Comments to improve course

Great professor who is passionate about the subject and cares for students

Excellent Professor! As someone who is not so strong in statistics, her lectures really helped me understand concepts better. One suggestion, perhaps providing more extra credit opportunities.

Worksheets are very helpful

Professor Valente has been one of my favorite professors at my time at Baruch College. I will be 100% honest, I hate stats; it is so difficult for me to get enthusiastic about it, but this class actually made me want to learn more about it. I realized only you are reading these comments, so I will just address you directly. You're awesome in and out of the classroom, and I will highly recommend that anyone take this class.

Interesting and fun class. I like how the professor uses her research papers to provide examples and teach in class. How "see" how the real work of statistics is.

Show completed classwork that was done by the Professor, just in case if the class was unable to finish due to the amount of time needed to answer questions.

This class was well organized, and I appreciate that Professor Valente taught statistics in an approachable manner. I would love for their to be more of an analytical portion of the class. For example, I think it would be helpful if there were research projects to work on and conduct.

Amazing teaching. My suggestion is to announce when there's gonna be a quiz the next week every time and spend a good amount of time interpreting the tables for significance because that can be kind of confusing but that's subjective. And maybe use less articles, however that's not necessary; just a thought. Everything else is pretty much perfect.

Prof. Valente is the right professor to teach the class since her knowledge and experience in the subject. I love learning from her.

Professor Valente is a great professor, the class was well organized and she explained every concept in detail. make difficult subjects look easier. I learned a lot from this class. Thank you, prof Valente.

again like bruh give her a raise, I cannot emphasize enough how much she deserves it.
